I Believe in You

By Nancy Johnson Taylor

Xulon Press, United States, 2012. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 216 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . What motivates men and women to serve in prisons as Christian ministers? It cannot be money, because so many sacrifice their own funds to visit, to serve and to witness. It is not status because no one even knows their name. It is not glory because they are the first to get blamed for causing problems. It must be because they believe incarcerated men and women can change. The title of Nancy's book says it best, she believes that no matter the circumstance God can change the person to become an overcomer! Through Christ we are not just better people, we become a New Creation. Chaplain Eugene Wigelsworth Director of Religious Programs Mississippi DOC This is an excellent book. It is written in simple and clear terms to an inmate audience. It covers most of the basic subjects in practical Christian living. It will be invaluable to even mature believers, but it is simple enough for the uneducated inmate as well. Bill Glass, Phil 1:3 Champions for Life This book is written for the new believer...
