The requirements of modern industrial processes and the severe competition of commercial enterprises now require not only more precise knowledge of temperatures, but in many cases also require a continuous automatic record of the temperature state extending over an interval of time. Several years ago, anticipating the need by technical students of a Course in High Temperature Measurements, the work of testing the various methods and apparatus was begun. After three years devoted to this survey, a course was organized and offered. It was received with such favor that it was made a required subject in the plan of study for students...
