Excerpt from Plain Tracts for Critical Times: On the Important Subjects of Baptism and Regeneration, C., With an Especial Reference to the Oxford Tracts, C. C., Of Regeneration, Erroneous Interpretations, C., Bethell, Lawrence, Hopkins, Budd, C In the preceding Tract we endeavoured to prove two points, and we hope, satisfactorily, namely, - 1, that Re-generation, according to the Scriptures and the church of England, is a holy and spiritual change of heart and faculties, and that the relative privileges of justification, adoption, and a title to salvation, are always connected with, but do not form any part of regeneration; - 2. That every definition or interpretation of regeneration which does not include real holiness of heart, is indubitably defective and erroneous. In the present Tract we shall especially attend to three particulars; we shall endeavour, - 1. To remove some erroneous interpretations; - 2. To obviate objections, and explain some difficulties, arising out of texts of Scripture which seem to recognise a relative regeneration or to speak of persons as holy or regenerate, whose character does not indicate true holiness of heart; - and, 3. To examine into the genuine nature of that instruction which, as true sons of the church, we are in duty bound to afford to our congregations, in consequence of the views which our church takes of regeneration.
