Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from The Occupational Safety and Health Act Making the Case for Reform: Hearing of the Committee on Labor and Human Resources, United States Senate, One Hundred Third Congress, First Session The committee met, pursuant to notice, at 10:55 a.m., in room SD-430, Dirksen Senate Office Building, Senator Edward M. Kennedy (chairman of the committee) presiding. Present: Senators Kennedy, Metzenbaum, Bingaman, Kassebaum, and Durenberger. Opening Statement of Senator Metzenbaum Senator Metzenbaum. The committee hearing will come to order. The chairman is on his way, but in the interest of time and knowing we have so many witnesses, the chair will make his opening statement, which will by unanimous consent be included in the record after the statement of the Senator from Kansas. This morning, the committee continues hearings on the reform of our Federal safety and health law. I would like to take a moment to stress the urgency of this issue. Although we have made some progress since 1970, injury rates remain appallingly high. One hundred thousand Americans die each year from on-the-job safety accidents and...
